The handbook Malawi Reporting: Covering the Tripartite Elections has been produced to accompany the USAID/NDI/IWPR Course in Election Reporting, which is being conducted for Malawian journalists in the run-up to the 2014 elections.

The handbook follows the day-by-day course programme, and copies of the slides used during the training plus a great deal more supporting material. Given that most participants come from radio stations, we have included detailed advice on radio journalism. It is important to note that material presented in text boxes throughout the document represents PowerPoint presentations and can be best understood in the context of the course itself.
